KIDNAP SUSPECT SURRENDERS

EX-CONVICT GRILLED ABOUT SLAYING BOY

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 15 (AP)—Fred Orrin Haynes, ex-Folsom, Cal., prison convict, sought for questioning in the Charles Mattson kidnap-killing case, surrendered here today and was questioned in Detective-Captain Marshall Scafford's office.

The detective said Haynes came into the city police station early today, while state police were seeking a man and woman who disappeared from a four-room furnished cottage five miles north of Seattle Wednesday—two days after the body of the 10-year-old boy was discovered near Everett, Wash. Haynes said he had been in the cottage at the time the boy disappeared.

G-Men Raid 'Kidnap Cabin'

Everett, Wash., Jan. 15—Flying squadrons of Washington state highway patrolmen today raided a cabin near the spot where the frozen, battered body of 10-year-old Charles Mattson, kidnap-murder victim, was found six miles south of here last Monday.

Although officers found no clues in the cabin, which had been scrubbed clean, they came upon a blue clay bank in the rear of the cabin—very similar to the type found under the fingertips of the little victim.

It was in this cabin, officers believe, that the boy was held captive before the fiendish kidnaper murdered him.

The patrolmen searched every room in the cabin, paying particular attention to the bathroom.

Norwich, Conn., Jan. 15—Amid a wild courtroom demonstration, Robert Simpson, young orchestra leader, was cleared this afternoon on murder and attack charges growing out of the death of pretty Ellen Sullivan, his 17-year-old sweetheart.

Prosecutor Arthur M. Brown joined with the defense in a motion to dismiss the murder charge, but insisted Simpson be tried for an alleged criminal attack on the young girl before she plunged to her death from a New London beach building last July 17.

Three black-robed New England jurists, sitting as judges and jury both, ruled, however, the state had failed to establish a case on either count, and immediately discharged the slender orchestra leader from custody.

There was a burst of cheering from the grandstand gallery, but this was halted immediately.

Work 'Only Solace,' Pope Insists on Sitting Up

Vatican City, Jan. 15 (AP)—

Finding work his "only solace," Pope Pius insisted on sitting in his "bed chair" for audiences at the Vatican today, despite a sleepless and pain-racked night.

With renewed pains in the upper part of his right leg indicating his paralysis is spreading, the Pontiff ignored the pleas of Priest-Pope's Father Genelli that he return to his bed.

"There is no more to be done," he said. "Work is my only solace."

The Pontiff had another round of audiences in the salon as he received in his wheel-chair—called by some attending the "bed chair"—Dr. Amadori Miani, the Pope's physician, approved transfer of the Pontiff from the bed to the "bed chair," and then stood by him as he received Cardinal Parelli, Papal secretary of state, and the chief administrator of the Holy See, Bernardino Nogara.

HURLEY BACKS SIFT OF ALL STATE JOBS

A legislative resolve filed today, apparently with approval of Governor Hurley, provides for a sweeping reorganization of all state departments, with abolition of as many departments, boards and commissions as possible.

The measure was filed by the Republican floor leaders of Senate and House after they conferred with Governor Hurley. Prior to that they had said they would not file it without his consent.

No such reorganization has been suggested since Calvin Coolidge was governor, when, under constitutional amendments adopted by the people, the departments were cut from 160 to 20. Since that time numerous agencies of government have mushroomed into powerful forces.

One result of a sweeping change in the departmental organization would be to permit Governor Hurley to select new department heads, eliminating those appointed by ex-Governor Curley for long terms, near the close of his administration, it was pointed out.

One striking state House development today was the discharge of 40 employees of the Massachusetts milk board, leaving only six employees in that office including the two board members and the administrator. Some of the 40 will be retired, it is understood.

Louisa Governor Francis E. Kelly signed a bill today that would eliminate the milk board.

Pratt, Okla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Four women and two men were burned to death last night near Okla., when an oil line of the Gulf Oil & Refining Company exploded while a crew of seven men was attempting to repair a leak.

Five other men were burned seriously and were brought to a hospital here.

The dead were Mrs. Carrie Barrett, Guthrie; Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Gilman; Mrs. John L. Estes, Avant; Mrs. John L. Smith, Seminole. Reports said the women were trapped in their motor car as flames leaped from the pipe line. They had driven out to take their husbands home from work.

Reports said leaking oil became ignited from a torch being used in welding operations.

POLICE RAID 'KIDNAP CABIN' AND FIND CLAY CLUE

TRAIL CONVICT AS TENANT OF PLACE

which blood spots could be traced easily.

The cabin was rented two months ago by its owner, Mrs. Melvin Smith of San Jose, Cal., to a man whose description tallies with that of Fred Orrin Haynes, ex-convict of California prisons.

LINKED TO BANK ROBBERY

The manhunt for Haynes as the No. 1 suspect was intensified as G-men and state police sought to link him with a bank holdup Wednesday afternoon in Tacoma, 40 miles south of here—the hometown of Dr. William W. Mattson, prominent surgeon and father of the slain boy.

The bank robber was believed wounded as he made his escape. Haynes, if he were the tenant, rented the cabin Wednesday night. He was accompanied by a woman. He told officers the tenant turned over the cabin keys to him, requesting they be delivered to Mrs. Smith.

"And who shall I say left them," the neighbor asked.

"Anderson" was the reply. From Mrs. Smith in San Jose came word that the cabin was rented to a man who gave his name as "Charles" Weyden.

SECOND CABIN RAIDED

The Smith cabin was the second raided within 24 hours. State officers last yesterday searched an abandoned shack in the wooded home-covered mountains, 20 miles from here. They found a bundle of men's clothing apparently abandoned.

First reports that the clothing was a boy's were discounted by officers who confiscated it for anthropometric inspection as a possible link in the chain of clues which now include:

1—A woman's lipstick picked up in Everett at the place where the abandoned, fire-damaged murder car, used to transport the Mattson boy's battered body, was found.

2—A woman's slip found in the murder car by an International News Service correspondent, giving the first indication "Tim," as the kidnap fiend identified him-

VIRGINIA CHATFIELD

FRED ORRIN HAYNES

Sketch of Kidnap

The sketch that 15-year-old Virginia Chatfield, playmate of the Mattson children, made is still a very important clue in the G-men hunt for the kidnap and killer of Charles Mattson. The man that fits the description is the man sought by thousands of police officials in every state of the union, Fred Orrin Haynes, a California ex-convict, surrendered to police today. Immediately he faced a rigid questioning by federal sleuths. It will be Virginia Chatfield who may face this man and other suspects, William Mattson and Muriel Mattson, brother and sister of the victim of fiendish killing, will co-operate with police. The sketch will figure to the last in the identification.

CHARLES MATTON

highway, doubled back to Tacoma for a bank holdup to get badly needed funds and was shot as he fled from scene of the robbery.

DESCRIBED AS 'TIM'

Timmy started in Tacoma yesterday on a dark, slender man about 20 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weight about 125 pounds—the description of "Tim," the blackboard who kidnaped the Mattson boy, jumped in a car driven by Anton Haevel and said:

"I've got a package for you."

His package was a gun and he forced Haevel to the address and read in Haevel's car to the Lincoln branch of the Puget Sound National Bank.

There the desperado informed Charles Mattson, his manager, "I've got a package for you," and produced his gun again, forcing Mattson and two other bank employees back against a wall with their hands up. There were no customers in the bank at the time.

ROBBERS AID FOUND

The gunman asked something for all the money he could produce. Greening flung a big 100-pound bag of silver to the floor. The gunman calmly gathered it up, put it in a shopping bag he carried, walked out and drove away in his stolen car.

But the bank manager went after the robber with a rifle and fired three shots at the disappearing car. A few hours later the machine, wet with blood, was found abandoned on the outskirts of Tacoma, a hand-drawn trail leading into the hills in the direction of Everett.

One or more of the bullets apparently went through the head and it was believed the driver would be too weak to go far.

Descriptions furnished G-men by Haevel, Greening and other reports from California police established identity of the No. 1 suspect in the Mattson case as Fred Orrin Haynes, California ex-convict.

SURE IT'S SAME MAN

"We are convinced" a chief of the forces of law told International News Service, "that the wounded robber is the abductor and slayer of the Mattson boy. His description tallies with the kidnap."

The actions in holding up the bank indicate he is either mentally unbalanced or a dope addict.

the same characteristics as marked the abductor.

"This man and a woman companion came from California and stayed the kidnapping. The boy was killed and Dr. Mattson would pay the $2500 ransom without proof his son was alive, so the body was thrown into the snow."

"The fiend had to have quick money to get away, especially as the car in which he carried the body to the thicket had been picked up in Everett and evidence was produced to show his accomplice was a woman."

"His trail was red hot, as he doubled back to Tacoma, the scene of the abduction—criminals always seem to come back to the scene of their crime—and went in for bank robbery."

G-men were seeking Haynes for questioning in the Mattson case. A source of a reported Los Angeles house he planned a $200,000 or $300,000 stake.

Blockade Jail After Kidnap Suspect Quits

Bellingham, Wash., Jan. 15 (AP)—The Western county jail was blockaded today—an unusual precaution—after two federal agents questioned a prisoner concerning the Charles Mattson kidnapping murder case.

For several hours last night the agents quizzed Leo Hassell Fowler, 26, sentenced Tuesday to 20 years in the penitentiary for a holdup.

Fowler then was placed in solitary confinement and the agents left here with a woman, said to be Fowler's sweetheart, who also was questioned.

After their departure, the heavy, iron-bound, outside door to the jailer's office was locked, completely blocking the jail.

Fowler, it was learned from an official source, who declined to be quizzed, refused to account to the agents for his whereabouts from the time of the kidnapping to the time he was released by his father near East Stansford last Thursday.

The same source disclosed suspicions of the government agents were aroused when Fowler pleaded guilty, Tuesday, to a robbery charge.

Fowler, a parole convict, will be questioned further today.

Killer Tried to Collect After Slaying Boy

By DOROTHY ROE

(Copyright, 1934, by Universal Service.)

Everett, Wash., Jan. 15.—The grave kidnap killer of little Charles Mattson attempted to collect the $2500 ransom today after his little victim was already dead. Universal Service learned exclusively today, as the dramatic true story of the ransom negotiations was for the first time revealed.

"Three notes in the boy's" own handwriting were received by his father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, in the first week of his absence. It was learned.

It was also learned that 21 blood stains were found on the floor and upholstery of the murder car built here and used by the slayer of the young boy.

The slayer of the boy's mutilated body was smeared on the back seat.

The exact hour of the kidnap was told for the first time in an full detail today.

BOY SKINNED THREE NOTES.—The three notes, all in little Charles' own handwriting and signed with his name, were delivered to his family at intervals during the first week after his kidnapping.

Each read, in substance:

"Dear Dad: I am well. I am being well taken care of. You will hear from me later."

The last note from the boy was received on Saturday, January 2nd. The note from the boy was received on Saturday, January 2nd. The note from the boy was received on Saturday, January 2nd.

The voice on the phone spoke with a marked accent, it was revealed and was of deep husky timbre.

On Thursday, January 7, a second telephone call came. This time the voice directed Dr. Mattson.

"Go to the corner of Beacon and Stevens street, Seattle. There you will find a note under a stone on the curb. This will direct you to another spot, where you will find a second note, telling you where and how to pay the ransom."

The rendezvous was arranged for the next morning of Friday, January 8.

Going and driving a model A Ford, Dr. Mattson drove to the indicated corner, the $2500 in old bills in a pocket of the car.

With a gun and fear etching in his heart, the doctor looked in vain for a stone and note. He found none.

Mansfield Settlement

Fin. Com. to Sift Tax Abatement

Timothy W. Murphy, ousted yesterday as a principal assessor by Mayor Mansfield, whom he supported for years, was invited today to tell his story of conditions within the assessing department to the Boston Finance Commission.

An investigation of this city department, formed following a gain in support by Chairman E. M. M. Sullivan, is expected to report to the Boston Finance Commission. The Boston Finance Commission will be very glad to give Mr. Murphy the opportunity to talk. Our chief difficulty in the past in getting into the affairs of the assessing department has been to get somebody to talk.

It is reported that some of Mr. Murphy's stories will prove to be highly interesting to the public at large and particularly to the Finance Commission.

RETTLES FOR $150.00

In a recent court hearing concerning a large tax abatement in the Hamlet section, Murphy said the abatement was to the city.

Yesterday Mayor Mansfield announced he had settled the tax abatement for $150.00 and at the same time discharged Murphy, his close friend, "for the time being."

Murphy would have been eligible for a pension in a few weeks.

Today Murphy, whose dismissal came at a great cost to City Hall, said he would seek court action to prevent the city from settling the tax abatement.

Later he went to City Hall and conferred for a half hour with Finance Commissioner David H. Shaw, a close friend and another supporter of the mayor.

Following the conference, Murphy would not comment and left the building. Finance Commissioner Shaw planned to return because of the mayor's action in discharging Murphy.

Murphy could not be reached for comment on this report and the statement of Sullivan, who said he left City Hall, where Shaw refused to see any visitors or accept any phone calls.

Shaw had earlier been asked by a reporter when he was the police-mayor between Murphy and the man who had replaced him.

"This is the first time in my life that I've ever been mentioned as a housebreaker."

Murphy is 62 years of age, and has been at the top of the city for 40 years. He was appointed as a special assessor in 1920.

PLANS COURT FIGHT

Referring to his contemplated court action, he stated earlier at his Jamaica Plain home.

"Mayor Mansfield said in court that he did not interfere with the work of the assessors and that he had no right to settle cases."

He did admit, however, he settled this case. How he thinks he has settled it is beyond my comprehension. I could have settled it for $200,000.

"This case was settled because some people feared that too many things might be revealed in court. Mayor Mansfield has pulled a better, if this settlement is any-

The boy was struck in City Hall, where he was parked in a dangerous spot with a possible fracture of the skull and a concussion of the brain.

89 Indictments Voted by Jury

Salem, Jan. 15 (AP)—Eighty-nine indictments and 15 convictions were returned today by the Essex county grand jury in Judge Wilfred Gray's superior court here.

Most of the indictments were for grand larceny, larceny, fraud and assault.

One indictment, containing 12 counts of assault, charged Edward W. Ross, former captain in the Boston army, with theft of $10,000.

He allegedly sold a worthless automobile-world check ticket to a Gloucester couple.

She's Happy Girl Now

Happy Now With Man She Loves

PRISONER'S SONG HAPPY ONE NOW

Out of California today came good news to Commissioner Arthur T. Lyman of the State Department.

It was a letter from a 24-year-old girl whom he had helped when she needed aid most—when her sweetheart was in prison while she waited faithfully for the day he would come out.

That day was less than two months ago. The couple were George Gilbert and Dora M. Miles, happily together in California now.

In a letter to Commissioner Lyman, she told of "starting again" to find a world of happiness.

LYMAN HAPPY, TOO

And there no person any happier than Commissioner Lyman when he hears of former prisoners "making the grade."

The letter reads:

"I received your nice letter wishing us well and thank you very much. I wanted to see you but both times I was up there you were out on business."

"In taking this opportunity to thank you for your kindness to me and all the help and good advice you've given, it certainly helped me a lot because I could always depend on what you told me."

"George is working every day and starts in school this week. He is going to take electric wiring, carpentry, welding and metal-urgy. It is a good trade and there is always a scarcity of welders. He would like to get his degree from a thirteenth college but right now we can't see our way clear to handling the tuition fees and cost of books, etc."

LONG WAY ROUND

"I am glad that when he graduates from this school he will be making more money and then he can go back to college. Sometimes we have to take the long way around."

"We had a wonderful Christmas. It seemed so good to be back with the folks again and grand, of course, to be together."

"I'm extremely happy and I know George is, too. Thinking you again for your kindness, Mr. Lyman, sincerely,

"Dora Miles"

2300 JOBLESS MARCH BY WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Re-dragged and rain-soaked, but nevertheless determined, to force attention on their demands for greater relief funds and Works Progress Administration appropriations, about 2,300 unemployed demonstrators from New York City and Pennsylvania communities today marched by the White House.

Sponsored by David Lasser, head of the Workers' Alliance of America, the strange procession, begun at the Labor Department, a statement as to the policies, he would pursue on relief and after the detail of 50 policemen guarded the line of march.

ARRIVE BY TRAIN, AUTO

The "march" designed to improve Congress and President Roosevelt with its thousands of unemployed, began after official high noon and continued by the momentary weather.

Arriving by train, bus and auto, the demonstrators this morning dispersed a proposed march at 9:30 a. m. and hundreds of them found refuge from the rain while waiting the 11:30 parade to downtown transportation terminals and any shelter offered them.

The demonstrators later planned to appeal communally to suit the White House and Congress to protest against cuts in WPA funds. They demanded a deficiency of appropriation of $120,000,000 for the federal works program in place of $70,000,000 which Congress is believed to have passed.

VAGUE POSSIBILITIES

Lasser declared:

"The feeling to take this action was arrived at only after the Workers' Alliance attempted the week to meet with President Roosevelt or to get from him a statement as to the policies, he would pursue on relief and after the detail of 50 policemen guarded the line of march."

Before the procession, about 2000 of the demonstrators, most of them WPA workers, held a mass meeting in the auditorium of the department of labor.

FLOODS Peril Five STATES

HUNDREDS FLEE FROM HOMES

Chicago, Jan. 15 (AP)—Rain-swollen streams surged over their banks in the Middle West and East today, flooding lowlands and menacing a wide expanse of territory from Missouri to Pennsylvania.

Torrential rains which reached maximum intensity in the most acute flood conditions in years in many great midwestern streams approached on recent flood stage in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Missouri and Illinois.

Forecasts of heavier weather held hope for abatement of rains in some sections. Meanwhile, many families prepared to evacuate their homes if indicated rises in river stages materialized.

More than 150 families near Hamilton, Ohio, a like number in Poplar Bluff, Mo., 75 in Williamsport, Pa., and hundreds in Indiana fled from their homes yesterday.

Police and firemen used boats to rescue families marooned by flood waters near Indianapolis, Dayton and Columbus.

Forced to Go

National guardsmen were on duty at Poplar Bluff to enforce an evacuation order. State officials mobilized relief for refugees.

Hungry Prison Fugitive Gives Up

London, Jan. 15 (AP)—The slender suit of Ernest Aldrich Simpson against Mrs. John Sutherland will be settled out of court.

The suit was based on purported remarks alleged to have been made by Mrs. Sutherland, a London society matron, concerning Mrs. Simpson's divorce proceedings.

Although Simpson was represented as being anxious to have a trial in order to dispel a "whispering campaign" against him in Mayfair's circles, it was believed he will be persuaded to accept an out-

SIMPSON TO SETTLE

Slander Suit Kept Out of Court

London, Jan. 15 (AP)—That the slender suit of Ernest Aldrich Simpson against Mrs. John Sutherland will be settled out of court was the opinion expressed today by friends of the estranged husband of Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

The suit was based on purported remarks alleged to have been made by Mrs. Sutherland, a London society matron, concerning Mrs. Simpson's divorce proceedings.

Although Simpson was represented as being anxious to have a trial in order to dispel a "whispering campaign" against him in Mayfair's circles, it was believed he will be persuaded to accept an outcome settlement if the terms are made public.

Yonkers, N.Y., Jan. 15—The Duke of Windsor has decided to commute until he finds out where he stands financially with the British government.

The man who once was crown prince of the Kingdom of Greece is going to make his old clothes repaired and wear them a while longer.

He has also cancelled an order for an expensive Astor-Luxury fur coat and has bought an ordinary sheepskin lining for the old sports jacket. The coat will be $7.

The Duke isn't likely to get away, but he has certain funds in England he doesn't want to touch until he gets official approval.

RYE Cold 'Cure' OUT

WATER BETTER, SAYS DOCTOR

Alcohol is far from proper treatment for anybody who feels coughy and a cold coming on, says Dr. William B. Keeler, health commissioner. Instead, the doctor recommends hot water and a warm bed.

Dr. Keeler feels that pneumonia prospects will do well to absorb plenty of water—more than a quart a day. In the time of first fever, however, to bed, with blankets and linens.

Says the doctor:

"At the first sign of approaching cold, sit up, add water yourself, feel into bed and relax completely. Do not take liquor. Avoid over-eating."

Other steps on the health menu are:

1—Always wear rubbers in wet weather.

2—Avoid contact with persons who cough and sneeze.

3—Sterilize all dishes and glasses with boiling water.

4—Avoid fatigue, especially in damp clothing.

5—Do not go on too many temperature extremes. In another word, properly clothed for the change.

Judith Allen Says Doyle Blacked Eye In Divorce Bill

Los Angeles, Jan. 15 (AP)—Jack Doyle, the Irish singer, whose career as a pugilist in America was studied with defeat, blacked the eye of Judith Allen, screen star, according to her divorce complaint on file here today.

The former Easton girl, who eloped to Agua Caliente, Mexico, with Doyle in April, 1935, and there married him, charged the Irish singer with beating her so severely that she was unable to appear in public for two weeks.

Doyle is in London, scheduled to make a ring appearance next week. The permanent separation, Mrs. Allen asserted, occurred December 1, 1936.

Among Doyle's asserted acts of "extreme cruelty" were the following, according to Mrs. Allen:

"Doyle drank excessively and became unmanageable; he used vulgar language in front of her friends; he appeared frequently in public with other women; he ran up huge debts for his own entertainment which he was unable to pay and his creditors have been harassing her."

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 15.—In Peiping, China, five narcotic peddlars were executed by firing squads, while 80,000 spectators looked on.

This is China's method of putting an end to the narcotic business. It is bound to be 100 per cent effective, if long continued. If you kill off all the dope peddlars in a nation, it necessarily follows that the sale of dope in that nation must cease.

In these United States, we put the traders in narcotics in prison, if we can catch them, and as long as they are behind bars the taxpayers of the country pay for their board and lodging and clothes. China saves all that expense.

We presume there are a great many persons who will shudder at the Chinese method, and call it barbarous, but among these persons we guarantee there will be no man or woman who has ever had any close personal experience with a customer of the dope pedlar.

Certainly none who have ever seen a member of their own family, or a dear friend become a dope addict, and thus fall into the clutches of a dope dealer, one of the lowest criminals on the face of the earth.

Criminals Scorn Dope Peddlars

The dope pedlar is despised by his fellow criminals of the underworld. He never gets the slightest respect from them when the law falls on him. The pettyest sneak thief feels that he is several grades above a "junker," which he is, at that.

We need to be opposed to capital punishment, until kidnapping and child murder came along, and while we are not yet convinced that the death penalty is any deterrent to crime, generally, we are convinced that it is necessary in many cases, and the only answer.

And as long as we have to have capital punishment, it might not be an entirely bad idea to follow China's example, and let it be the dope pedlar, who slaughters human minds, and murders human souls.

We are aware that this suggestion will not be widely approved. Indeed, we are pretty sure it will be strongly condemned by many persons who are not familiar with the physical and spiritual devastation that can be wreaked by dope, and who think that justice can be vindicated by fattening the peddlars behind bars.

They will change their minds if ever they have any occasion for intimate study of the effects of dope, but they need not worry about our suggestion getting on the statute books.

It has been our observation that the dope pedlar, especially the big fellow, generally has more influence and influence enough to escape all the consequences his crime deserves.

Little Opium Now Smoked in U. S.

In China the narcotic most widely used is opium, usually smoked in a pipe. In this country dope takes many forms, and in any form it is responsible for much of our crime, our insanity and our poverty.

Opium smoking was once widely practiced in the United States, and almost publicly, too. There was a time when an opium smoker could walk into any one of hundreds of joints in New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Denver, and any other large city of these United States, crawl into a bunk, and lie on his hip till the cows came home.

All he had to have was the pipe. Opium was dirt cheap then. Opium smokers were divided into two classes—those who "had a habit," and "pleasure smokers." That is, confirmed addicts, and fellows who smoked occasionally. For a time, opium smoking was an underworld fashion.

New opium has become so expensive in this country, and the process of smoking as involved, and hazardous, that there is not much of it going on. Moreover, it has become disgraceful.

The best circles frown upon the once popular pastime of gathering about a layette in a room with wet towels hung over the keyhole and stuffed in the cracks, to keep the doors from drifting out into the halls. A good "chief" had almost social standing 30 years ago. Now he is just a felon.

China, in its anti-drug crusade, told the addicts to be cured by New Year's or die. The addict is not to be confused with the salesman. The addict is an unfortunate—a sick person, and to be treated as such, so China is dead wrong there.

Sure Cures for Addicts Available

In this country we cure the addicts by medical attention. We have absolutely sure cures for the worst cases, and if there is the slightest vestige of will power left in the patient the cure is permanent.

We know a lot of chaps who became narcotic addicts through illness, through experimenting with drugs "for fun" and through sheer perversity, but who were eventually permanently cured by physicians.

It is all right to say a narcotic addict is usually a weak-willed person, whose credulity is his own fault. But those who say that have no conception of the frightful hold that drugs can get on even a fellow who may have started out in life with powerful self-control.

We doubt that any addict wants to go on being an addict. The addict knows better than anyone else what the thing is doing to him.

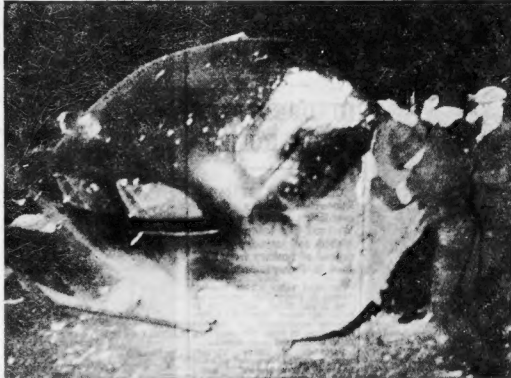

Why doesn't he quit, then?

Because narcotics soon destroy will power, and leave the victim helpless to think or act for himself. They soon destroy mental balance. They soon destroy self-respect, and that is worst of all. And to this destruction the dope pedlar panders, because there is great profit in selling dope.

It is on the suffering of the victim, physical and mental, that the dope pedlar thrives, and there can be nothing lower than a criminal who makes a racket of human suffering.

On second thought, it occurs to us that the Chinese method of dealing with the dope pedlar is inadequate. Death is really too good for them.

Before Peace Came Riding Back to Autos

Flint, Mich., sit-down auto strikers took their strike with bullets and bombs. This photo shows what they did to a police automobile at the General Motors plant in the rioting after police released tear gas. Today a truce was on and permanent peace loomed.

When the General Motors corporation turned the heat off in its Flint plants, the sit-down strikers "turned the heat on" in a way. Rocks and other missiles and high-pressure hoses were used to fight police guns and gas. Photo shows what happens when a gas bomb explodes.

LABOR GROUPS AID BALL

One hundred per cent cooperation by Boston labor organizations for the birthday ball to be held at Boston Garden on January 23, is an assurance today by Charles Campbell, president of the Boston Central Labor Union.

A special box has been reserved for the officers of the Central Labor Union.

Proceeds of the ball go to aid sufferers of infantile paralysis, to 10 per cent to local and national fund-raising committees, and 10 per cent to the national committee on infantile paralysis.

"Millions will dance that these sarks may walk."

With the national slogan in mind, the Western Union Telegraph Company announced today that its nationwide system of offices will be placed at the disposal of the President's birthday ball committee.

For twenty-five cents the company will place a sign on its multiple duplicate birthday greeting cards.

"Happy Birthdays, Mr. President. I am proud to participate in sending of this personal greeting to our president and thereby help in the fight against infantile paralysis to a high level have given such notable leadership."

The entire proceeds from the message will be donated to the fund.

All signatures will be mailed to the central point at New York where they will be bound into what probably will be the greatest birthday greeting in history.

The advance sale of 31 admission tickets as well as reserved seats at $150 and boxes for $100 to $250 is already far ahead of the sale of any previous ball.

A battery of telephone operators took conversations at Capital 3225, 3223, 3222.

"Millions will dance that these sarks may walk."

Continue Search For Guard Plane

Illinois National Guardsmen at Hennepin, Minn., today were dragging the Illinois river to recover an observation plane in which two Massachusetts National Guardsmen plunged to their deaths Monday night.

Searchers located a plane yesterday, but a snowstorm halted work. The bodies of the two men were found in a ditch, where they were buried. The bodies of the two men were found in a ditch, where they were buried.

Stay-In Strikers Sorry to Leave Plant

Flint, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—Striking sit-down auto workers here today said they were sorry to leave the General Motors plant.

At his left were the union representatives, President Homer S. Martin, Vice-President Wyndham Mortimer, and John Brophy, organizer of the committee for industrial organization.

The governor then presented to the strikers a check for $100,000, which was the amount of the strike fund.

All outsiders, including newspapermen, were denied admittance to the strike-occupied Fisher plants Nos. 1 and 2. There were no signs of activity about them.

Officers commanding the 200 National Guardsmen who are here to "preserve law and order at all costs" said they had not been informed whether the troops would remain during negotiations.

George E. Bowen, former mayor who organized the "Flint Alliance" to crystallize anti-riot sentiment,

"All we want to do is to get them started back to work. I am glad they have gone this far but I'm sorry the strike was not settled right off. The Flint Alliance, of course, is not engaged in any bargaining effort."

AUTO STRIKE ENDS IN TRUCE; DEBATE TERMS MONDAY

After hours of negotiations and conference have ended and left in an atmosphere of perfect cordiality and good will. In these circumstances I believe we are agreed upon the terms of the settlement.

"We have arrived at peace!"

"Despite the fact that the news was flashed almost instantly to all parts of the country the governor appeared later to have spoken prematurely and there were four in the evening hour that the negotiations might even then fail."

At 4:30 a. m., the newspapermen were called into the governor's private office. To his right were seated the General Motors negotiators William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president, Donald A. Brown, financial committee chairman, and John Thomas Smith, legal adviser.

At his left were the union representatives, President Homer S. Martin, Vice-President Wyndham Mortimer, and John Brophy, organizer of the committee for industrial organization.

The governor then presented to the strikers a check for $100,000, which was the amount of the strike fund.

Man for Sale, Price $2500

New Orleans, Jan. 15 (US)—For sale—40-year-old man. Price, $2500 and "no questions asked."

Levin Fields, of Los Angeles, today offered to sell himself for one year for that amount in order to pay what he calls a debt of honor.

Fields, who said he was a graduate of the University of Minnesota and a World War veteran, declared there were no strings attached to the offer. If accepted, he said, they might make any experiment they wished upon him.

He was then asked when he expected to withdraw the 1000 national guard troops now on duty in Flint.

"We shall decide that question late today. However the guard was sent away for the protection of public order, acting solely in the public interest and it will remain there until the maintenance of such order is beyond any possible question."

He hesitated for a moment, then said:

"I am quite confident personally there will be no further disorder in Flint. Certainly we want to get the guard out of the just as soon as possible."

PARLEY SATISFACTORY

Throughout the long day and night, the parley was held outside the conference room. As foreseen in International News dispatches yesterday afternoon the first ray of real hope for settlement came with the statement made by the governor.

President Knudsen of General Motors, who said the progress of the negotiations had been "satisfactory."

Union officials, however, seemed less optimistic and Governor Murphy bent on all.

SEEK ROMANO AS N. Y. KIDNAP WITNESS

(Governor Huxley today received a request for the temporary release of George Romano, 29, alias "Romano," now serving 20 to 25 years in state prison for armed robbery, to testify at a kidnap trial at Chicago, N. Y.

The governor, upon receipt of a telegram from George H. Smith, counsel for the defendant in the case, requesting him to bring a New York judge before the court order to release Romano, replied: "When the order and accompanying facts are presented through the regular channels I will set upon your request."

The trial is in connection with the alleged kidnaping in 1932 of National Guard Lieutenant John J. Connelley, Jr., by Manning "Manny" Starn, the defendant, Counsel for Starn has also requested Attorney General S. Cummings for similar release of two prisoners at Alcatraz. The attorney general has not ruled as yet.

In each case governmental agencies have been asked to pay transportation costs of the prisoners.

Romano was released May 4, 1936, in connection with the $15,000 United Drug Company hold-up in March, 1936.

New York officials questioned the prisoner in state prison several months ago concerning what knowledge he had of the case. He told them he would refuse to testify if he was taken to court and is said to have added: "Come back in 15 years."

She testified that she and the actor married in Santa Barbara, Calif., May 26, 1936, and separated 28 days later.

The artist, she complained, was "unreasonable, cold, and distant" in his intention of being a husband.

Chief of the government's legal battery, Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson, was on his way back to Washington, leaving the closing arguments to his side. He was to be telegraphed for command to close the government's arguments with only two judges sitting, Judge James Morton, Jr., and George H. Latham.

Lanza groaned as he was strapped into the chair and began a statement denying his guilt.

"The daughter of the man I've supposed to be the man who couldn't identify me, but she couldn't testify for me," the condemned man declared. "If there's another woman, I'm going, I hope I'll be the star witness when she goes up. It was said that the man she was—the murderer—had dark wavy hair and was five feet and five inches tall. Well, I'm only five feet, two inches, and my hair is straight. That's all, gentlemen. Thank you."

Sen. Copeland Promises:

Air Safety Steps
By U. S. in 1937

By SENATOR ROYAL S. COPELAND OF NEW YORK
Chairman of the Special Senate Subcommittee Engaged in Investigation of Major Air Crashes

Written Expressly for Universal Service

Washington, Jan. 15 (US)—Since the 15th of December there have been six serious airplane crashes. Naturally the whole country is distressed over the situation. Everywhere the question is being asked, "What is wrong with aviation that such fatal accidents should be so common?"

The problem of safety in the air was brought officially to the attention of the Committee on Commerce by a resolution of the Senate, directing that an investigation should be made of the accident on the 6th of May, 1935, which resulted in the death of five persons, including an honored member of the Senate, Benson M. Cutting.

The committee was also directed to determine what legislation of any kind should be adopted in the interest of safety of life and property transported in interstate commerce, likewise to discover what can be done to prevent accidents in the air and to provide appropriate safeguards for their prevention.

WORKED YEAR AND HALF

For a period of a year and a half this committee has been functioning. It held extensive hearings and listened to the testimony of airline operators, pilots, engineers, government officials, and hundreds of citizens who take a particular interest in aviation.

In June last the committee made a preliminary report to the Senate, giving its conclusions reached at that time. The committee stated that a further report would be made in 1937.

BADLY SITUATED

Both these accidents happened near Saugus, California. A committee expert said of the beam which operates there:

"The radio range is generally unreliable, especially the Los Angeles beam. In general weather reports are not reliable. The pilots complain of the lack of reports, and these men are the men who are most interested in them."

It was urged that use be made of the Los Angeles Municipal airport in the adjacent plain to the south of Los Angeles and away from the mountains. The Burbank station is unfortunately situated, being practically in the mountains. Any station in all right in good weather, but this particular station is a great source of safety in low visibility or bad weather. One of the pilots reported ing on the air terminal at Burbank said this:

"After milling about for an hour and unable to get any signals from the Van Nuys range was forced to return to Palmdale." The point of the failure of detectability of this station as reported by the pilot is that it is no better than it was two years ago.

REBUILT CONFIDENCE

The total I have in mind is that the committee has developed tools many which have been available to the Department of Commerce for almost a year, yet for one reason or another no improvement has been made.

This may well be because of the fact that in any event the situation has resulted in loss of life.

Certainly from the standpoint of the airlines it is necessary to rebuild public confidence, because if these crashes continue everybody will be afraid to ride in the air. If the public can be made to understand that the navigational aids are being improved, that the planes are regularly inspected and supplied with ample modern equipment, there will be created safe conditions, knowledge of which will reach the public.

The first consideration must be given to the radio beams. They must be made as dependable as the progress of science will permit. There are a number of areas, particularly between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles, where there are magnificent weather-reporting stations.

It is a bleak, mountainous country, sparsely populated, storms are high, interference with visibility may be sudden in the onset.

In addition to all this, we thought and still think that there should be at least 25 intermediate fields and likewise the modernization and completion of 45 fields already in existence. We made a great point of the pressing of increased weather reporting and recommended the establishment of a minimum of 25 weather-reporting stations.

A MILLION IN BUDGET I am glad to find in the budget for the coming year a direct appropriation of three million dollars for the establishment of air-navigation facilities in the direction of the completion of such stations as I have mentioned.

In addition, the Secretary of Commerce is permitted to enter into contracts for the purchase, construction and installation of additional navigation aids not in excess of two million dollars.

HURLEY BACKS SWEEPING DEPARTMENT PROBE

Edward of Middlebury for a long time in Quincy, made by the Public Works Department during the Carter administration, will be investigated by the Governor's Council.

The legislative review for reorganizing the state government was filed by Senator Joseph E. Cullen of Lexington and Representative Christian A. Horner of Boston.

COMMISSION OF SEVEN

It came for appointment of a special unpaid commission of seven members—one senator appointed by the president of the senate, three representatives appointed by the speaker of the House, and three outsiders appointed by the Governor.

This commission would make a survey and study of the executive and administrative departments of the state, including the Metropolitan district commission. It is to determine the necessity and expediency of abolishing or reorganizing or absorbing all or any departments, boards and commissions, and especially to define and regulate the powers and duties of the administrative and executive heads and other officials.

The commission would be required to make its report before the end of the present legislative session and with its recommendations there would be required to submit a plan of legislative reorganization to effect the desired changes.

Two members of the Massachusetts Emergency Commission, Robert J. Wall, labor representative, and the former Governor Frank G. Allen, representing employers, asked the public to take part in the reorganization of the state in preparing necessary recommendations to the state commission.

CRITICIZES ECHOS

The report received sharp criticism from Governor Hurley of the United Public relations of the state, and a note that 25 employees of the commission, appointed without competitive civil service examinations, would be discharged.

Governor Hurley told Judge Fitch, the reorganizer of the state, that he had been conducted in an inefficient manner.

The statement issued by Wall and Allen said:

"When Governor Hurley has had more opportunity to become familiar with the employment commission law, he will realize that our past difficulties are not merely of administrative nature. The Massachusetts law, one of the first enacted, requires that many positions of a very non-paying nature.

Discharge of non-paying positions already has been voted, they said, although it was otherwise possible to replace experienced employees.

LAND DEAL PHOES

Besides the proposed investigation of a $100,000 land deal, the governor's council is to inquire into the award of $72,000 to a building in Newbury in connection with the widening of the Newbury road.

Councilman Frank A. Brooks, Republican of Weymouth, requested Lieutenant Governor Kelly, who is in office, to inquire into the award of $72,000 to a building in Newbury in connection with the widening of the Newbury road.

According to Brooks, the award of the land would have settled the land question. The council would be asked to examine the payment of $100,000 to the land owner.

The members of the Public Works Commission, as well as the members who estimated the value of the land, the property, will be called before the Governor's Council at his session next Wednesday.

Today the council met in special session, as did Governor Charles F. Hurley, to nominate more than on warrants for wages and emergency compensation in the closing weeks of the last administration.

MORE LOST JOBS

As the council met, the State House was still reverberating with discussion of the report that Governor Hurley might return from his honeymoon sooner than planned in order to defend his employees at the State garage.

It was revealed today that 20 men employed at the state garage in D street, South Boston, received notice of discharge yesterday.

Dismissal of more state employees appointed without competitive civil service examinations is expected.

Lieutenant Governor Kelly is especially interested in investigating the award of $72,000 for 27,000 cubic feet of land in Newbury.

APPRISALS MADE

"I am told," said Kelly, "that four private appraisers started at $3000 as the value of the land taken on Newbury. I am also told a department engineer appraised the land at $3000 and that it is assessed for $2700."

"On the face of it, it looks peculiar to say the least, and so the members of the council, including myself, thought we should look into the matter. And so I have asked the commission to come in and explain."

"At the same meeting Councilman Brooks of Weymouth is going to ask some pertinent questions about a land-taking in Quincy. The state paid $20,000. This went through the council at its last session, last year, before the membership changed."

According to Brooks, the owner would have settled for $1000.

NO WARRANTS TURNED BACK

"In the future warrants will be segregated into amounts for wages, contracts and land damages. I have already turned back to Comptroller George Murphy 10 warrants calling for payment of about $10,000 and asked him to break them down and give us detailed information."

"Before I vote on anything I want to know what I'm voting on. I vote only for the benefit of the public in every instance."

"I reach the conclusion the state has paid too much. I shall probably institute legal action to recover the excess paid."

Edward Shattuck of Andover resigned today as director of dairying and animal industry in the state department of agriculture. Shattuck is getting chairman of the milk control board and he resigned to take the position.

His opinion that no person should hold two state jobs. He continues on the milk board.

Brother Officers At Wedding

A commission authorizing the Rev. Frederic Manion of Chicago to perform the marriage ceremony in which the clergyman's brother, Charles E. Manion, will be wedded to Miss Nancy Egan of Brighton, was issued by Governor Hurley today.

Charles E. Manion, former chauffeur to ex-Governor James M. Currier, is at present supervisor of motor vehicles in the state department of public works. Miss Egan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Egan of Brighton.

The marriage ceremony will be performed next Tuesday morning in St. Columbian Church, Brighton.

Under the state law a clergyman of another state can perform a marriage ceremony in Massachusetts only after permission has been granted by the Governor.

Troy Denies He Opened Gun Wound

Worcester, Jan. 15.—John F. Troy, 27-year-old former South Boston leader today denied he deliberately ripped open the healing wound caused by a revolver shot recently.

He is in City Hospital under police guard and when he recovered, he returned to his prison for violation of parole. Troy said his wound was reopened, causing a severe hemorrhage when he pulled himself up by the bars of his bed.

Disabled Trip Radios

Colon, Panama, Jan. 15 (AP).—Wireless messages from the tugboat Roosevelt, towing the oiler James from Colon to Key West, Fla., today reported the tugboat was disabled off Roosevelt Banks, 200 miles from Cristobal.

ADVICE on LOVE and MARRIAGE :- By Beatrice Fairfax

Stimulate the Scalp

By ARLINE GOULD

THE DAY we get come, we are assured when there will be a bald-headed man—or woman—in the way.

The fact is that a man's hair can be kept from falling out by the use of a scalp stimulant. This is a fact which is often overlooked by men who are beginning to lose their hair. A scalp stimulant will not only keep the hair from falling out, but it will also stimulate the growth of new hair. This is a fact which is often overlooked by men who are beginning to lose their hair. A scalp stimulant will not only keep the hair from falling out, but it will also stimulate the growth of new hair.

Up-to-Date Young Woman Seeks Way to Win Stranger's Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Frances, a modern girl, no longer looks anywhere but her latest strictly twentieth century.

And Frances loves a boy, loves him more than any other boy. Of course, Frances doesn't know his boy, can't even find out whether he's married or single, and doesn't care much.

All Frances worries about is that she meets this handsome fellow in the subway every morning on her way to the office. And as he goes by, she goes up to her knees, she wants to know him and if she can, she wants to marry him.

So Frances writes me, seeking my help and a tried, true and never-known-to-fail recipe for "getting the man."

Reply: First, I must say that I am not a fortune teller. I cannot tell you whether or not you will ever see this handsome fellow again. But I can tell you that if you want to win his love, you must first win his respect. This means that you must be a woman of character, a woman who is not afraid to stand up for her principles.

Next, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be different. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future.

Finally, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the past. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

And now, I must say that you must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the future. You must be a woman who is not afraid to be a woman of the present.

The doily is made of a single strand of cotton yarn, and is crocheted in a single piece. It is a very simple and easy doily to make, and it is a very beautiful doily to use.

Only one fear worried about his own.
"I'll tell you this much, though.
There never will be another anybody else will get it."

He is a man in a hurry when he goes.

Fears Minors

I can't blame him much for worrying to save that lot of money of these minors, the great man said. "I'm all right with the way we've been, but I've been worrying. I'm not sure I can get good enough for a kid. Couple of these teams want me to show with them some Sunday. But I can't go for that now."
My legs,
he said, I'm not going to get bumped up at my age. It's hard enough trying to hit a ball of golf on the golf course, much less a baseball. Him, and I wasn't an big kid. I was playing 10 holes, one one day I went for 22 out of the crowd. Imagine that.
As he has been the way for about 10 years. How much, however, that he is in the last stage of his career. "I'm down to 120, he said. "I look 15 pounds off some Christmas. It's a hard job, I think. Had a 71 yesterday, and I'm going to enter a tournament in 10 rounds in a couple of weeks. Sure, I'm an amateur."
Ruth plays usually with a few of his better friends, and he's only amateurs.

"Sure, I want to go back, but not with any minor league team," he said. "I haven't got a thing in myself, but I'll try, all I know that I'm available." I thought I just don't understand. I don't know what he's a lot of good, but I just don't know. Nobody wants me, doesn't it?

LEWIS HANEY SAYS

Bill Rate Mark-Up BRINGS THOUGHT Of Higher Money

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University
New York, Jan. 15.—One of the most interesting financial developments of late is the mark-up in "bill rates."
This means that dealers in so-called bankers' acceptances have found it difficult to sell such paper to investors, because the discount or interest rate is too low to be attractive to buyers.
These dealers are holding commercial paper, in the form of "bills," that are drawn by the sellers of goods on the buyers. These bills mostly call for payment in 30, 60, or 90 days.
When a bank vouches for the goodness of the bill, by "accepting" it, the paper becomes a "banker's acceptance."
The new bill rates are now 5.16 of one per cent and 1/2 of one per cent asked by the dealers. In other words, the typical rate on bankers' acceptances is 1/2 of one per cent.
That is extremely low. It is a mark-up of only 1-16 of one per cent from the previous rate of 5.16. Such figures are so microscopic that in normal times they would not seem real.
The interesting point is the fact of a change or movement that is perceptible to the naked eye and the fact that the movement is upward.
Furthermore, any significance of the move is increased by the fact that other indications of higher discount rates have been appearing.
For several weeks, the rate at which the U. S. Treasury gets its new finance bills discounted, has been gradually increasing. It has crawled up from almost nothing to the neighborhood of 1.5 of one per cent.
This means that the government is having to pay more for borrowed funds.
There has also appeared to be some small tendency toward lower prices for government bonds, which, of course, means that the interest yields a higher percentage on the price paid for the bonds.
Do these symptoms mean that the money market is about to tighten up? Are credit conditions tightening so that higher money rates are in prospect?
A yes-and-no answer has to be given. It seems that (1) there are to be interpreted as preliminary symptoms of moves that are about eventually, but that (2) they are merely the preliminary stirrings that indicate that the market is getting ready for an advance in time later.

All these accumulated money rates are abnormally and artificially low. Probably a normal "asked" rate on 90-day bankers' acceptances would normally be about 3 per cent, and the yield on high-grade bonds "nominal," as illustrated by the fact that there has been very little demand for bankers' acceptances.
Thus a move of 1-16, to a rate of 1/2 of one per cent, is insignificant.

Almost certainly the proposal of the New Deal authorities to make another increase in the reserve required for bank deposits, has something to do with this rise in bill rates. It is worth noting, therefore, that a change in reserve requirements would also be an attempt to get out of an unusual and abnormal position.
Bank reserves have long been artificially and abnormally high. There is no need of increased reserves. Why, then, increase the reserve requirement? It is in anticipation of a future need.
The New Deal move is an anticipatory policy of attempting to prevent a result by providing that the cause is not there.
But not only are the gold reserves (and "gold certificates"), which our federal monetary policy has brought in, still here; but also the huge bank deposits are still here. They balance the banks' "investments" in government paper.

The plan fact is that the government ought to have been paying much higher interest rates, and rates that rose as it borrowed and wasted more funds.
Present moves in "money rates," however, are but the focal uttering of credit strain which is hardly to be expected for many months.

Indeed, they may indefinitely postpone the proposed increase in reserve requirements.
FARMERS' INCOME
17 P. C. Larger Than 1935

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP).—Federal farm reports showed that from a stack of statistics today and announced that as a whole the nation's farmers showed financial gains in 1936.

Net income of farmers after deducting $4,250,000,000 for wages, interest, taxes, rent, supplies and other expenses was $2,500,000,000. The experts said this was 17 per cent larger than in 1935 and only 7 per cent less than the comparable 1935 income of $2,600,000,000.

They said the severe drought had hampered the crop and had hurt incomes but not as much as a bright spring in the combination with both a larger crop and higher prices. The "white gold" netted growers $165,000,000 compared with $137,500,000 in 1935.

Even the wheat crop, with a short spring wheat yield, showed a gain. The farm value of wheat was $242,000,000, more than $100,000,000 above the 1935 crop.

The short crop of potatoes showed a wider increase. It was valued at $557,000,000 against $400,000,000 the previous year.

The experts cited these estimates of gross farm income and income from actual cash sales for the last two years and the depression of 1932.

Gross farm income, 1936, $5,250,000,000; 1935, $4,500,000,000; 1932, $3,500,000,000.
Cash farm sales, 1936, $3,100,000,000; 1935, $2,700,000,000; 1932, $1,700,000,000.

They said these advances, however, did not tell the whole story. While incomes were up, expenses were increased by 5 per cent, they said, and that "pay reduced to the farmer for his work and capital in 1936 had a purchasing power apparently the highest in any of the last 15 years for which these income estimates are available."

New York, Jan. 15.—The salaries of one of the leading financial institutions of the country have just been published and have stirred up an inter-industry controversy over the matter of a scale of pay for active, semi-active and inactive executives.
This particular institution has four men on the executive payroll receiving around $75,000 or more a year, but only one of these men is really an active officer and his salary is No. 2 from the bottom.

The other, recognized head of the president, is an active, active officer. He is in charge of the company's business and is the only one of the group of young men who have come up in Wall Street in recent years. His salary is a little over $75,000.

These last three are men who are getting along in life. They are no longer active officers. They are no longer active officers. They are no longer active officers.

Loan FLOATED

TO RESCUE
SWERINGENS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 15 (INS).—The financial structure of the $3,000,000 loan empire tottered so during the economic crisis of 1933 that J. P. Morgan led a Wall Street banking syndicate in floating a $39,600,000 loan to rescue the sinking brothers, it was revealed today at the Senate rail inquiry.

Execution of this rescue loan created a financial merry-go-round in which the money passed repeatedly between the hands of the bankers.

The plight of the rail empire was partly provoked by the bankers' spreading heavily on the stock exchange in securities of the rail companies. It was only after the bankers' accounts of the brothers became strained that it "sank" into their rescue and "bailed them out" of the market.

Documentary evidence and testimony disclosed the brothers first began to show signs of trouble in 1929 when the General Company of New York floated a note for $10,000,000. This note was partly secured by $15,000,000 of common stock of the Van Sweringen Holding Company.

The Van Sweringens intended to back this money and used it largely for speculative purposes. It was within a year's period that the brothers and their associates began to show signs of trouble. The brothers' accounts of the brothers became strained that it "sank" into their rescue and "bailed them out" of the market.

The situation, disclosed today, was that the brothers had been using the money to pay off the debt of the rail companies. The brothers had been using the money to pay off the debt of the rail companies.

RETAIL TRADE Factory Employment

What effect do imports of manufactured goods into the United States have upon our factory employment? The chart tells the story from cold figures. It will be noticed that for every change that occurs in imports of manufactured goods a similar change takes place in factory employment. These facts are furnished by the U. S. Department of Commerce and Industrial Bureau Corp. It was indicated.

Unseasonably warm weather restricted buying of winter merchandise in many areas, the trade agency said.

On the wholesale front, however, buyers showed little interest in winter trade goods with some cities reporting a record number for the period. The early date of Easter this year was one factor behind the brisk forward business.

GOOD GAINS SHOWN
Upward estimates appeared in most of the leading industrial groups, the review noted, an abrupt lengthening being shown by some following the usual year-end interruptions.

Electric power output, bituminous coal production and lumber shipments were among the leading showing good gains. Steel output had about even despite labor troubles in parts of the automobile industry.

Prices, reporting a rise from the previous week's level of retail distribution were in the majority, the agency said, "both unusually high temperatures and more complicated labor difficulties combining to check the improvement."

When compared with the same 1936 week, however, the estimated volume of retail sales for the week ending Jan. 12, 1937, was 10 to 15 per cent higher than the same week in 1936.

New York, Jan. 15.—Official ambassadors of propaganda from overseas are ringing the tocsin in favor of international currency stabilization.

One hard-bitten middle westerner characterizes this effort as a campaign to rid America's gold supply, with the United States giving up gold for promissory notes.

It seems to me that real international equilibrium must rest on more than a monetary trick. It should spring from a fair interchange among the nations of goods (and services) for goods (and services).

The stationary price of gold is a result of free trading, rather than of a free play of economic forces. It is analogous to a cartel price.

On the old basis, the principal nations of the world, if offered, through a series of international monetary conferences, formed a cartel and sold their gold at a cartel price.

By January 20, the United States could not afford to sell its gold at a cartel price. The United States could not afford to sell its gold at a cartel price.

BUILDING PERMITS

Bay State
FIGURES
Improve

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
While construction activity in Massachusetts is far from prosperity levels, there are definite indications that a healthy comeback is under way and it is not far fetched to prophesy further improvement this year.

The State Department of Labor and Industries reported today that building permits in 1936 touched a five-year peak. Building construction activity was generally improved in 1936 and many thousands of new houses were started. The report also shows that the value of building permits issued in 1936 was the highest since 1931.

One of the early difficulties facing the building industry in 1937 was the shortage of lumber. This was due to a combination of factors, including a heavy export trade and a shortage of domestic supply. However, the situation has improved in recent months.

Notwithstanding the above, the building industry is optimistic for 1937. They believe that the demand for new housing will continue to be strong, and that the building industry will be able to meet this demand.

The stock market continues to show signs of improvement. The Dow Jones Industrial Average has risen to a level not seen since 1933. This is due to a variety of factors, including a recovery in the economy and a decline in interest rates.

Tickler Ticker. Radio, inclined to be a full order, has started to show off. In the meantime, the stock market has been showing a steady upward trend.

NEW RECOVERY
TOPS ATTAINED

By B. C. FORBES
Henry Ford, it is often said, is a very hard bargainer in buying raw material, parts, etc., for the manufacture of his cars.

This conversation between a manufacturer doing business with Ford and the writer of this column, throws a different light on Ford's methods.

"We have just booked a fine contract to supply Mr. Ford with additional parts."

"But can you earn any profit on Ford orders?" Ford's question is a direct one.

"I know," replied the manufacturer, "Ford is supposed to have a direct buying plan. He does and he doesn't. He has a very hard bargaining method, and you must conform absolutely to them."

"But we have found him thoroughly fair—an ideal man to do business with. He is just as fair as any man I have ever known."

"One good thing," he added, "is that he knows exactly what he wants and for what he is willing to pay."

"The French franc was set at 147 cents in initial foreign exchange transactions. It was unchanged at 147 1/2."
